

A vintage advertisement featuring two men from the waist up. They are both wearing bright yellow, double-knit cardigans over white shirts and ties. The man on the left has light brown, wavy hair and is looking upwards and to the left. The man on the right has dark brown hair and is looking upwards and to the right, smiling. They are standing against a plain, light brown background. The cardigans have a textured, ribbed pattern and silver-colored buttons. The man on the right has his left hand on his hip.
